LIV Student Sheffield

6/10
Posting consistency

6.5/10
Content quality

Posting consistency

- 10 posts in about 6 weeks (28 Aug - 9 Oct 2026). The volume is good, but posts come in bursts.
- Nothing was posted for 14 days (7-21 Sep), right through move-in and freshers week.
- Three posts landed in 2 days (4-5 Oct) after a 9-day gap.
- Story highlights: one is about 4 weeks old and the rest are much older. The pinned posts date from Oct 2025 and Jan 2026.

Working well

- Event recaps perform best: quiz (105 likes), Meet the Team (70), Oktoberfest (60)
- Useful resident information: parcels tutorial, bin store tour, safety visits, wellbeing support
- A warm, friendly tone of voice
- The collab with a resident creator (111 likes) beat most own posts

To improve

- Only 2 own reels in recent posts, both how-to videos. No events have been turned into reels yet
- Text-tile awareness posts underperform (Mental Health Day: 5 likes)
- Almost no comments: captions don't invite replies
- Hashtags and visual templates are inconsistent
- Nothing aimed at prospective residents ahead of 27/28 bookings
- The StudentCrowd bio link opens a generic review form, so students have to search for LIV themselves

Top 3 actions

1. Post on a fixed rhythm of 2-3 times a week, batched and scheduled, and keep posting during peak weeks
2. Turn every event into a 15-30s vertical reel within 48 hours
3. Start a prospect strand (room tours, testimonials, booking CTA) and refresh highlights and pins

Posting consistency

5.5/10
Content quality

Posting consistency

- 10 posts in about 5 months (14 May - 7 Oct 2026), roughly one every two weeks.
- There was a 2-month silence (4 Jun - 6 Aug), then about 5 weeks quiet until 11 Sep.
- There have been only 4 posts since September move-in.
- Story highlights are 102+ weeks old ("Welcome Party 24"). The pinned posts date from Oct/Nov 2025.

Working well

- Good reel mix: 4 of 10 recent posts are reels
- Event recaps lead: Welcome Party (71 likes), Paint & Sip (35)
- Has already run a rooms-available booking CTA
- Fun, distinctive event themes with real personality

To improve

- Low engagement overall: most posts get 10-35 likes, and awareness tiles got 0-2
- Reels are mostly posters or teasers rather than real footage
- Their strongest selling point, Belfast's #1 property for 3 years running, sits in a static post with 13 likes
- No questions or polls in captions, and hashtags are sporadic
- Little content between events: no room tours, team faces or local guides

Top 3 actions

1. Fix consistency first: post at least 2 times a week in term and weekly over summer
2. Lead with "#1 in Belfast, 3 years running": pin it, make it a testimonial reel, and rebuild highlights
3. Film the events, not just the posters: a teaser before and real footage after

What we found

- Facebook mirrors Instagram: the same posts, captions and gaps (Belfast silent 4 Jun - 11 Sep; Sheffield 7-21 Sep). Instagram @handles are left in captions, where they don't link on Facebook.
- Engagement is close to zero. The same Sheffield quiz post that got 105 likes on Instagram got 0 reactions on Facebook. Students aren't using these Pages.
- Belfast has no username, so its address is facebook.com/p/LIV-Student-Belfast-100063860600830 and looks like a personal profile.
- Belfast shows a 1-star rating in Google results from a single rating - the first thing a parent searching "LIV Student Belfast" sees.

Who Facebook is for

Students live on Instagram and TikTok; parents and guardians are on Facebook. Treat Facebook as the parent and reassurance channel, not a copy of Instagram.

Top actions

1. Belfast: claim the username @livstudentbelfast today.
2. Belfast: fix the rating - reply to the review, ask happy residents and parents for recommendations, or turn reviews off and point people to StudentCrowd.
3. Stop straight cross-posting: rewrite captions for parents (safety, support staff, what's included, booking deadlines) and remove Instagram @handles.
4. Post 1-2 times a week rather than everything: room tours, safety and wellbeing, results-day and clearing info, plus a monthly events round-up.
5. Complete both About sections, add a "Book now" button, and pin a current rooms/booking post.

APPLIES TO BOTH CITIES

Shared recommendations

1. Make the most of the bio links

Quick win: Instagram allows up to 5 links in bio, but only the first is visible ("and X more"). Put booking first and tag each link with UTM parameters.

- Sheffield (3 of 5 used): livstudent.com/sheffield, Togetherall and StudentCrowd. Change the StudentCrowd link from the generic review form to LIV Sheffield's own review link (studentcrowd.com/review-something/direct/hall/2727) so reviews take fewer steps. Add 2 more, e.g. Book a viewing and Rooms & prices.
- Belfast (1 of 5 used): add Book a viewing, Rooms & prices, the StudentCrowd review link (studentcrowd.com/review-something/direct/hall/8022) and Help & Support / WhatsApp.

Next step: a link-in-bio page hosted on livstudent.com, so all bio traffic lands on the LIV site and can be measured in GA4.

2. Keep Story highlights current

Highlights are the first thing a prospective resident sees after the bio. Refresh them every term. A suggested set: Rooms · Book a viewing · Events 26/27 · Reviews · Help & Support · Local guide. Archive anything older than one academic year.

3. Put faces on important messages

Text-only graphics (wellbeing, safety, awareness days) get the lowest reach on both accounts. Have a team member say the message to camera in a 15-20s reel or Story instead. If it has to stay a graphic, use a carousel that opens with a team photo.

4. Invite conversation

End captions with a question or call to action, and use Story polls and question stickers. Tag event winners and residents (with consent) to get more shares.

5. One branded toolkit

Use 2-3 shared Canva templates with the master LIV logo and one consistent hashtag set per city, so both accounts look like one brand.

A simple weekly rhythm

1. Monday: useful info or a local guide
2. Wednesday: a reel (event, room tour or team)
3. Friday: an event recap or resident spotlight
4. Daily: Stories (behind the scenes, polls, reminders)

Method: public profile review on 13 Oct 2026, covering the most recent 12 grid posts on each account plus Story highlights. Engagement figures are public like and comment counts at the time of review.
